

SAVE WATER

Water, so pure and clean,
A precious finite resource that we hold so dear,
From lakes to oceans, from rivers to streams,
Water is the source of all the living things.

It flows through our pipes, it quenches our thirst,
It gives life to plants and animals first,
From raindrops to oceans so vast,
Water is the treasure we must hold fast.

We sail on its surface, deep to explore.
Water is a world that we cannot ignore,
With splashes, ripples and waves that crash,
Water is a force that we always must match.

If we do not save it,
What shall we eat and drink?
So, let us all take a vow,
To save water somehow!
